(2) The court shall give notice to the occupier of a dwelling in respect of which such an order has been issued requiring him to move therefrom within a time to be specified in such notice, and if any person fails to comply with such notice or enter the dwelling or premises after the date fixed except for the purpose of demolition he shall be guilty of an offence.

(2) In a case where the local authority is, by any provision in this Act other than section 126C or by any rules made thereunder other than building by-laws made under section 126A, expressly required or authorized to reject plans, then, if any work to which such building by-laws are applicable is executed either without plans having been deposited, or notwithstanding the rejection of the plans, or otherwise than in accordance with any requirements subject to which the local authority passed the plans, the local authority may by notice to the owner either require him to pull down or remove the work, or if he so elects, to comply with any other requirements specified in the notice, being requirements which the local authority might have made under the provision or rule in question as a condition of passing plans.

(5) If a person to whom notice has been given under subsection (1) or subsection (2) fails to comply with the notice before the expiration of twenty-eight days, or such longer period as may be specified in the notice or as a subordinate court of the first class may on his application allow, the local authority which gave the notice may pull down or remove the work in question, and may if it thinks fit sell the materials thereof or effect such alterations therein as it deems necessary.

(6) The amount of any expenses incurred by a local authority under subsection (5), after giving credit for any amount realized by the sale of materials if sold, shall be a civil debt recoverable summarily by the local authority from the owner of the work and the owner of the land upon which the work is situate jointly and severally and the right of a local authority to recover any such amount, or any part thereof, from any person under this subsection shall not be barred by reason only of the local authority having obtained judgment for the same, or any part thereof, against any other person, and where any person liable therefor pays to such local authority the full amount of any such expenses, he may recover from any other person liable jointly therefor such contribution, if any, as a subordinate court of the first class may determine to be just and equitable.

(11) Nothing in this section shall affect the right of a local authority, or of the Attorney-General, or of any other person, to apply for an injunction for the removal or alteration of any work on the grounds that it contravenes any by-law or any provision in this Act, but if the work is one in respect of which plans were deposited and the plans were passed by the local authority or notice of their rejection was not given within the prescribed period after the deposit thereof, and if the work has been executed in accordance with the plans, the court on granting the injunction shall have power to order the local authority to pay to the owner of the work such compensation as the court thinks just, but before making any such order the court shall cause the local authority, if not a party to the proceedings, to be joined as a party thereto.

(1) Where any building is without a drain sufficient for the effectual drainage of the same, the local authority shall by written notice require the owner of such building within a reasonable time therein specified to make a drain or drains emptying into any sewer belonging to the local authority which is at a suitable level, and which is not more than two hundred feet distant from any part of such building, but, if no such means of drainage are within that distance, then emptying into such covered tank or other like receptacle for drainage not being under any building or in such other manner as the local authority may direct; and the local authority may require any such drain or drains to be of such materials and size, and to be laid at such level and in such manner and with such falls, as may appear to the local authority to be necessary:

Provided that where, in the opinion of the local authority, greater expense would be incurred in causing the drains of two or more buildings to empty into an existing sewer pursuant to this rule than in constructing a new sewer and causing such drains to empty therein, the local authority may construct such new sewer, or cause such new sewer to be constructed, and require the owners of such buildings to cause their drains to empty therein, and may apportion as they deem just the expenses of the construction of such sewer, amongst the owners of the several buildings, and recover as a civil debt recoverable summarily the sums apportioned from such owners.

(2) Any person who fails to comply with the requirements of any notice served under this rule within the time specified shall be guilty of an offence, and the local authority may, after the expiration of the time specified in the notice, do the work required, and may recover as a civil debt recoverable summarily the expenses incurred by it in so doing from the owner.

5. Two or more buildings may be drained by combined operation

If it appears to the local authority that two or more buildings which are to be connected with any sewer belonging to the local authority either voluntarily or compulsorily may be drained more economically or advantageously in combination than separately, and a sewer of sufficient size belonging to the local authority already exists or is about to be constructed at a suitable level and within two hundred feet of any part of such buildings, the local authority may when the drains of such buildings are first laid order that such buildings be drained by a combined system of drainage to be constructed either by the local authority if it so decides or by the owners in such manner as the local authority directs, and the costs and expenses of the construction of such combined system of drainage and of the repair and maintenance thereof shall be apportioned between the owners of such buildings in such manner as the local authority determines, and if paid by the local authority may be recovered by it from such owners.

6. New buildings must be drained

(1) No persons shall erect a new building or re-erect any building, any two external walls of which have been pulled down or burned down or which have fallen down to or below the level of the ground floor, or occupy or, being the owner thereof, permit to be occupied any building so newly erected or re-erected, unless a drain or drains have been constructed of such materials and size, and laid at such level, in such manner and with such fall, as may appear necessary to the local authority for the effectual drainage of such building; and the drain or drains so to be constructed shall empty into any sewer belonging to the local authority which is at a suitable level and which is within two hundred feet of any part of the site of the building to be erected or re-erected; and if no such means of drainage are within that distance then shall empty into such covered tank or other place, not being under any building, as the local authority may direct.

(2) If the owner makes default in complying with such requirement to the satisfaction of the local authority within the time specified in such notice, he shall be guilty of an offence, and in case of default the local authority may, if it thinks fit, itself provide such sink, drain or other appliances, and the expenses incurred by it in so doing shall be repaid to it by such owner, and may be recovered as a civil debt recoverable summarily.

- (c) he shall cause any excavation to be commenced at the outfall end of each drain and continued in straight sections, the bottom of the trench to be accurately cut to the proper gradient for receiving the pipes, and the trench to be made of sufficient width to afford room for the proper laying, bedding and jointing of the pipes;
- (d) he shall cause the laying of the pipes to be carefully performed and each pipe to be laid to a true gradient and in such manner that the body of the pipe shall have a firm bearing throughout its whole length and not upon the socket only;
- (e) he shall cause any excavation to be filled in with earth well rammed in six-inch layers, fine material free from stones being packed round the pipes, and the surface at ground level being made good to the satisfaction of the local authority.

29. Requirements for construction of closed drains

Every person who constructs any closed drain in connexion with a building, other than a drain constructed for the drainage of the subsoil of the site of such building or a drain constructed for the drainage of storm-water only or water from any water supply fitting only, shall, in the construction of such drain, comply with the following requirements—

- (a) he shall cause such drain to be constructed of good sound cylindrical pipes made of glazed stoneware or of heavy cast iron, or of other equally suitable material which has been approved of by the local authority;
- (b) he shall cause such drain to be of adequate size, to have an internal diameter of not less than four inches and to be laid with a proper fall, and with water-tight, socketed or other approved suitable joints;
- (c) he shall, if such drain is constructed of stoneware pipes, if so required by the local authority, cause such drain to be laid on an adequate and efficient bed of good cement concrete at least three inches in thickness, or, if such drain is constructed of approved metal pipes, he shall, if so required by the local authority, cause such drain to be supported upon a sufficient number of suitable piers constructed of good cement concrete:

Provided that where any such drain as aforesaid is to be laid on made or bad ground, and where in the opinion of the local authority such a precaution is necessary, he shall cause such drain to be laid on a bed of good cement concrete not less than six inches in thickness and projecting on each side of the drain to an extent at least equal to the external diameter of such drain, and shall cause good cement concrete to be filled in so that it extends to the full width of the cement concrete bed already prescribed and so that such drain is embedded to the extent of not less than half its diameter.

30. Requirements for construction of drains

(1) Gradient of drains.—Every person who constructs any such drain as is described in rule 29 shall cause such drain to be laid with a proper and sufficient gradient:

Provided that—

- (i) wherever practicable, he shall cause such drain to be laid with the following minimum gradients—
 - (a) drains of 4 inches internal diameter—1 in 40;
 - (b) drains of 5 inches internal diameter—1 in 50;
 - (c) drains of 6 inches internal diameter—1 in 60;
- (ii) wherever the foregoing minimum gradient of a drain is found to be impracticable, the local authority may, if it considers such a precaution necessary, require that special flushing tanks and inspection chambers shall be provided to such drain.

(2) Jointing of cast-iron drain pipes.—If he constructs any such drain of cast-iron pipes jointed with socket joints, such joints shall be not less than 2½ inches in depth, and shall be made with tarred spun yarn and molten lead or lead wool properly caulked, and the annular space for the lead, in the case of four-inch pipes, shall not be less than ¼ inch in width and, in the case of five-inch and six-inch pipes, shall not be less than ⅜ inch in width; and if such drain is jointed with flange joints he shall cause such joints to be securely bolted together and some suitable insertion for jointing placed between the flanges.

(3) Jointing of stoneware drain pipes.—If he constructs any such drain or stoneware pipes, or pipes of material other than metal, such pipes shall be jointed with socket joints properly put together with cement mortar (1 of sand to 2 of cement), a few turns of spun yarn dipped in cement grout being first put round the end of the spigot, to ensure it being concentric with the socket and tightly caulked in, or an approved composition joint may be used.
